DAY ONE

1

Sacred Old City

• Morning

Grand Palace

Open 08:30–15:30 daily. Enter via the Viseshchaisri Gate on Na Phra Lan Road, and dress with shoulders and knees covered or you will be turned back.

• Afternoon

Wat Pho

A ten-minute walk south of the Grand Palace, open 08:00–18:30. The reclining Buddha sits in the western hall; the massage school is in a separate building near the east gate.

DAY TWO

2

Markets and Lights

• Morning

Chatuchak Market

Open Saturday and Sunday only, roughly 09:00–18:00. Take the MRT to Kamphaeng Phet, exit 2, which puts you inside the market rather than at the hot perimeter.

• Evening

Khao San Road

Liveliest from 21:00 onward. For quieter bars and live music, slip one block south to Rambuttri, a curved lane that runs parallel and stays open just as late.

DAY THREE

3

South to the Sea

• Morning

Phuket

Direct flights from BKK or DMK take about 1h25. Phuket airport sits in the north of the island; allow 45–60 minutes by taxi to reach Patong or Old Town.

DAY FOUR

4

Island Hopping

● Morning

Phi Phi Islands

Ferries leave Rassada Pier around 08:30 and take roughly two hours. Speedboats from Chalong are faster; book the day before, as January sailings fill quickly.

DAY FIVE

5

Limestone Cathedrals

● Morning

Phang Nga Bay

Longtail tours depart from Surakul Pier near Phuket Town, about 90 minutes by road. Going early avoids the Phuket day-tour fleet that arrives at James Bond Island after 11:00.

DAY SIX

6

Final Shoreline

● Morning

Patong Beach

The quiet stretch is the northern end near Kalim, reached on foot along the beach road. Sunset is around 18:30 in January, with vendors setting up along Thaweewong by 17:00.
